Fierce Battle With Troops on Bear Island, Minnesota.

RUMORS OF A MASSACRE

General Bacon Said to Have Been Rilled.

A GENERAL UPRISING FEARED.

General Alger Orders Re-enforcements to Be Sent-The Story of the Battle-The Cause of the Outbreak,

WALKER, Minn., Oct. 6.-The most serious conflict with the red men of the west since the battle of Wounded Knee, in South Dakota, four years ago, occurred yesterday 18 miles west of here, on Bear island, Leech lake. One hundred men of the Third United States infantry, who fought the Spaniards at Santiago, were in battle for three hours with a band of Pillager Indians, numbering 250.

Ten men are known to have been killed, six of them being Pillager Indians. One was a half breed timber inspector, one a deputy marshai and two United States soldiers--Privates Cole and Hardy. The names of the other dead are not yet known. It is said the wounded number 19.

When Marshal O'Connor returned Tuesday night with word that he had not been able to arrest Chief Bush Ear and the other Indians accused of violating the law, he and General Bacon sat up till after midnight planning the campaign. They chartered the steamers Flora and Chief and issued orders all round for a start at daybreak yes-

The steamers, bearing 50 United States regulars. armed with Krag-Jorgensen rifles: General Bacon, Colonel Wilkinson, Marshal O'Connor, nine deputy marshals and 30 friendly Indians, started at half past 5 o'clock and arrived at Bear island a little after 8 o'clock. Seeing hostile demonstrations on the shore, however, they remained on board until after 10 o'clock, when the soldiers were disembarked and lined up for or-

While General Bacon was giving his men their orders Marshal O'Conner endeavored to have a parley with the Pillagers, stipulating that Bush Ear should be present. Bush Ear refused to come out of his house, declaring he was too old-he is 62-to appear in the chill October air.

A shot rang out from the house of Bog-ah-me-ge-shirk (Bush Ear) at 10 minutes after 11 o'clock, and a soldier fell, shot in the groin. Soon the ping, pang of the Springfield rifles, in the hands of the Indians in the bushes, rang out from the east and north. fore the regulars were able to recover from the surprise.

General Bacon and Colonel Wilkinson stood unmoved among the soldiers, who had seen service before the Spaniards at Santiago, and General Bacon was heard saying: "Steady, boys! Lie close to the grass! Don't shoot until you see something to shoot at!"

A minute later Krag-Jorgensen bullets were crashing into the bushes and tepees, and Indians were jumping out with knives and rifles in their hands. Several of the Pillagers fell dead under the first fire, and the others were soon in full retreat. The regulars halted to send the dead and wounded aboard the steamers, and then started after the Indians, whom they supposed to be about ready to surrender.

The Indians, however, had made a stand in the heavy timber and as soon as the Third regiment men came within range they began firing away again with their Springfield rides. The infantry replied sparingly, shooting only when the Indians were in sight. Both sides being pretty well sheltered, the rasualties were small and firing crased entirely about half past 2 o'clock.

General Bacon's men are still on the island and will intrench and remain there. They have three days' rations with them, and ten days' rations are here at Walker. Inspector Tinker and Marshal O'Connor both telegraphed Washington last evening as to the seriousness of the situation. Another detachment of 20 men-arrived here from Fort Snelling last night, and two full companies are ordered to report here

The men behaved superbly in the fight, there being no flinching at any point on the line. Conspicuous in the work were both Marshal O'Connor and Deputy Marshal Sheehan. The latter, a hero of Fort Ridgeley, although more than 60 years old, yelled to the deputies and regulars to keep close to the ground, while he himself stood erect and bareheaded throughout the heaviest firing. The belief is general here that the Pillagers will seek to reach the mainland by small boats. They are expected to retreat by the Big and Little Fork rivers. Should they do this there is danger of their destroying the Winn bigoshish dam, which would be directly ; in their path. If they should retreat into the interior and are in a mind-rous. mood they could do a great deal of harm, for the road they would take through Cass and Itasca countles is thickly settled with farmers. This is the season of the year when logging camps are preparing for operations, and many men are scattered through them, It is reported that Governor Clough, anticipating a totreat through the woods will send a company of the Fourteenth regiment, Minnesota nation al guard, over the Creat Northern and Deluth, and they will disembark somewhere between Deer river and Caus cutting off their retreat.

The steamer Flora, from Bear island, reports that so far as known none of the officers of the Third regiment were wounded. Owing to the confusion, no names of the dead, with the exception of the two soldiers, have been obtained The number of wounded is unofficially reported at 19. Whether these include Indians the captain of the Flora does not know.

Among the wounded brought back here is George Helmuth, city marshal of Walker. He will recover. He says the Bear lake Piliagers, who are always turbulent, were treacherous to the last and began firing right into the ranks of the troops when they were at "order" arms. Helmuth says Bush Ear has slept with a tomahawk, a rifle and a revolver within reach during the last three years and has often threatened to massacre the white farmers along the shores of Leech lake. He complained that the white men were stealing millions of feet of growing pine timber on the plea that it was "dead and down" pine, the Indians being only allowed to cut timber of the latter description.

Fourteen Indians of the Pillager tribe living on Bear Island, 8 miles from Walker, Cass county, were arrested for the illicit sale of whisky eight months ago, taken to Duluth, tried in the United States district court and sentenced to terms of imprisonment ranging from 30 to 60 days. A few days later an attempt was made to arrest Bush Ear, chief of the tribe, and another Indian. They resisted, and the deputy marshal departed.

When Bush Ear and the other Pillagers came down to the agency for their money from the government in August, the chief and the other Indians wanted were arrested. The next morning, however, when the officers were about to put them aboard the train for Duluth a band of Pillager Indians attacked the officers and rescued the Indians. The band went back to Bear island and have made all sorts of threats against the government during the last two weeks. United States Marshall O'Connor has been trying to persuade the Indians to submit peaceably to arrest, but without success. The government was called on for help, and Lieutenant Humphrey and 20 men of the Third United States infantry were sent to Walker last Saturday. After looking the ground over and finding there were 300 Indians fully armed on Bear island more troops were asked for, and on Tuesday morning General Bacon. Colonel Wilkinson and 80 men left Fort Snelling for the scene, arriving at Walker Tuesday night.

"SITUATION DESPERATE.

Official Reports Cause General Alger to Order Out More Troops.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 .-- Official dispatches received here last night brought to the authorities the sudden realization of an Indian uprising of more than ordinary dimensions. The dispatches began coming about 6 p. m., two of them coming to Secretary Bliss, who, as head of the interior department, has charge of Indian affairs, and a third to Attorney General Griggs from-one-of the United States marshals at the seat of the uprising. The first dispatch to Sec-

"Walker, Minn., Oct. 5 .- The Indians 25 miles from here on the mainland of North Bear island opened fire on troops under command of General Bacon without warning this morning at 11:30. I fear the army in the field is not strong enough to subdue the Bear island Indians. How many are hurt on their side cannot now tell. A large force should be sent here at once. It is now war, and the government must protect the people. I have slight scratches on right arm and left leg. Please wire me instructions.'

Another dispatch from Inspector Tinker followed soon afterward and was as follows:

"Secretary of Interior-Trouble was caused by Indians firing upon troops first. Situation as bad as can be. Feeling among Indians hostile and mean to fight to the end. More troops are needed at once. They cannot get here too

Immediately on receipt of these dispatches Secretary Bliss went to the residence of Secretary Alger and had a talk with the head of the war department as to the military steps which should be taken.

The two secretaries agreed that the situation had reached a stage when energetic steps were needed. Turning to his military aid, Major Hopkins, Secretary Alger said:

"Take these dispatches to Adjutant General Corbin and tell him to have ample re-enforcements sent immediately. If need be, have a special train secured and the re-enforcements sent forward without delay. If it seems to be desirable to send along a Gatling gun. let that be done also."

Major Hopkins went to the war department and delivered the message to the adjutant general. The latter in the meantime had received from the attorney general a dispatch received from the United States marshal as follows: "Walker, Oct. 5

Bound Over to Next Term In $5,000 Bail.

CASE TO BE TRIED IN NOVEMBER,

ing-District Attorney Refuses to Tell Who Is Responsible For the Prosecution.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 6. - United States Senator Quay, his son, Richard R. Quay, and Charles R. McKee of Pittsburg, law partner of Lieutenant Governor Walter Lyon, appeared before a magistrate in the central station court in this city yesterday afternoon to answer to the charge of conspiracy in the alleged misuse of public moneys in connection with John S. Hopkins, former cashier of the People's bank of this city, who committed suicide soon after the failure of the bank in March last. Ex-State Treasurer Haywood, for whom a warrant has been issued in connection with the conspiracy charge was not in court, but it is promised that he will be here tomorrow to answer to his accuser.

After a hearing lasting three hours Senator Quay and his son and Mr. Mc-Kee were bound over for appearance at the next term of court. Bail was fixed at $5,000 in each case, David H. ane, a local political leader, renewing the bond for that amount which he had entered when the accused men were given a preliminary hearing on Monday. The case now goes on the list for trial at the term of court beginning in November. The testimony produced by District Attorney Graham was in the shape of about 20 letters and numerous telegrams covering a period from September, 1897, to February, 1898, addressed by Senator Quay to Cashier Hopkins, directing the purchase and sale of large blocks of stocks and arranging for the placing of margins, a letter from State Treasurer Haywood to the president of the People's bank, a letter and telegram from Haywood to the cashier of the People's bank and a private memorandum book of Cashier Hopkins. The lawyers representing the accused fought hard against the introduction of the latter, but it went in as evidence nevertheless. The district attorney averred that the evidence produced showed that Senator Quay had the use of $200,000 of the state's deposit of over $500,000 in the People's bank for stock speculation; that State Treasurer Haywood placed $100,000 of state fundate the People's bank on condition that that amount of money be loaned to Senator Quay's son: that there was a regular assignment of interest on state deposits in the People's bank to certain accounts, one-third of it going to Mr. McKee, all of which he claimed was a violation of the state law prohibiting a bank official from making such transactions, and that the accused persons were guilty of conspiracy in joining with Hopkins in these transac-

The hearing was scheduled to begin at noon. Long before that hour the courtroom was filled by a crowd of politicians, newspaper men and lawyers. Senator Quay pushed his way through the crowd to the space in front of the magistrate's desk promptly at 12 o'clock. He was accompanied by Richard R. Quay, Mr. McKee, Lieutenant Governor Walter Lyon and Bondsman Lane. State Treasurer Beacon occupied a seat near the district attorney. Rufus E. Shapley and A. S. L. Shields represented the accused. Mr. Graham, who conducted his case without assistance, arrived soon after.

The attorneys for the defense opened the proceedings with a fruitless effort to secure from the district attorney the names of the persons responsible for the prosecution.
There were only three withesses. The first was Thomas W. Barlow, receiver for the People's bank, who is also a special assistant district attorney. In answer to questions by Mr. Graham, Mr. Barlow stated that in his capacity as receiver he opened the dead cashier's desk and found, among other things, a number of letters and telegrams and a book containing memoranda in Hopkins' handwriting. This book, referred to by Lawyer Shields as "the red book," was about a foot square and contained 200 pages. It figured sensationally in the day's proceedings and was the subject of much bitter controversy. After Mr. Graham had obtained possession of the letters, telegrams and book Mr. Barlow was excused, and Albert L. Tabor, receiving teller of the People's bank from 1896 until it closed on March 26 of this year, was placed on the stand. He identified the handwriting in the book as that of Cashier Hopkins and identified a number of letters in Senator Quay's handwriting written to Hopkins and bearing dates from early in December, 1897, until February, 1898; also a letter written by State Treasurer Haywood from Harrisburg to President McManes of the People's bank on July 31, 1896, but said by District Attorney Graham to have been inclosed in an envelope to Cashier Hopkins, and a letter and telegram from Mr. Haywood to Hopkins.

Mr. Graham did not succeed in getting the "red book" in evidence until he placed his third witness, Meyer Goldsmith, an expert accountant who had worked on the bank's books, on the stand. Mr. Shapley protested that all of the rules of evidence were against the admission of a private memorandum book in the manner sought by the district attorney and insisted that bank's books should be preduced. The magistrate finally stated that this case was of such public importance there he felt constrained to admit anything that would throw light mong the transac tions. The lawyers for the accused were compelled to acquisses in this view.

tended from May 1, 1894, to the date of eration constitutes only manulaugh the closing of the bank, a period of nearly four years. Only a few of the entries were read. They showed that from April 30 to June 15, 1897, a period of 40 days, the state deposit in the bank was $555,000; from June 15 to June 19, $555,000, and from June 19 to Oct. 31. $565,000. From this total there was a deduction of 20 per cent, evidently, an Mr. Graham explained, for the bank's use; then an entry, "Loss $200,000, Quay 184 days." From this period the interest was computed in the book as $5,944, one-third of which, $1,984.23, was marked paid, "C. H. McK." In October, 1896, there was a computation of interest on state deposit amounting to $7,353.33, of which $2,451,11, or one-third, was marked "Handed to C. H. McK."

The name of "C. H. McKee, 118 Dia-mond street" (Mr. McKee's Pittsburg address), was entered in another part of the book. In referring to the book, Mr. Graham said that in all entries of the amount of the state deposit there was a deduction of the amount Mr. Quay had in use, and there was never one dollar or interest credited against it. He said there were frequent entries of "Dua O" "Thus O of "Due Q.," "Due M. S. Q." and "Due Quay."

Mr. Shapley, after the district attorney had concluded his presentation of facts, said: "In all these transactions there is not an instance to prove that either Senator Quay or his son Richard engaged in speculations with the state money. They bought and ordered bought shares of stock which they paid for with their individual funds, and that is proved by the letters read by the district afterney."

Air. Shields referred several times in the course of the hearing to Mr. Gra-pan's arguments as "Swallow stump

At the close of the testimony the memorandum book was passed around. Senator Quay looked through it with his son and Mr. Shapley, watching over shoulder. Suddenly Mr. Shapley stepped up to the magistrate's desk with the book and laid it down, exclaiming, "The name was written by a different person at a different time."

Mr. Graham denied this, and the magistrate expressed the opinion that the writing was all done by the same

All through the ordeal Senator Quay bore an air of composure. He took an active part in the case and prompted his lawyers frequently. All the letters and other documents were submitted to him, and he passed judgment on every point that was raised. The district attorney had some difficulty in deciphering the senator's handwriting occasionally, but the latter always came to his aid and finished the reading, usually, however, in a voice that was not audible ten feet away.

After the magistrate had bound the three men over for court the senator and his son went back to their rooms at the Hotel Walton, where there was a constant stream of visitors.

IN SANTIAGO PROVINCE. Seneral Wood Goes to Manzamillo to Appoint Civil Officers.

SANTIAGO, Oct. 6. - The United States transport Berlin arrived here yesterday from Ponce, Porto Rico. She had on board 175 convalescents. Their general condition was good, although reversi typhold fever cases suffered relapses during the passage. The Berlin will leave here after discharging her army supplies with a small number of sick soldiers.

Colonel Jacobs, the chief quartermaster, who is very sick, is to leave here. He will probably be succeeded by Major Knight, the present depot quartermas-

General Wood and Lieutenant Colonel Wiley will await the arrival of Pettit's Fourth immunes for a few days before going to Manzanillo. The Fourth will be stationed at that point. General Wood's party will then begin the appointment of local officials.

General Wood will visit the coast towns as far as Gibara, and thence he will go inland to Holguin.

The sum of $10,000, with the necessary material, has been appropriated for the work of rehabilitating the telegraph system in eastern Cuba. It is thought probable that the cable which was laid by Colonel Allen during the war from Playa del Este to Daiquiri will be used.

Work is being rapidly pushed on the land lines from Santiago to Manzanillo and from Santiago to Guanatamo. When completed, they will be used commercially. Great difficulties have been encountered, and it has been necessary to use pack trains.

The First Massachusetis Artillery. BOSTON, Oct. 6.-The First Massachusetts heavy artillery, the first volun-teer regiment to be mustered into the army for the war with Spain, arrived here yesterday afternoon from South Framingham, where they have been in camp, and were given a furlough of 30 days, after which they will be mustered out. The regiment marched through the streets in the rain and was reviewed by Governor Wolcott at the state house. After nearly five months of duty the regiment returned home with a perfect record. Not a man has been lost by desertion; not one has died. The regiment has been kept on coast guard duty ever since it was mustered into the service. Portions of it have been at Fort Warren all surmer. Others have been at forts in Salem. Marblehead, Gloucester and Nev. Dedfird.

Middletown, Pa., Oct. 6.-Colonel Howard, chief quartermaster on the staff of General Graham, received a telegram last night from the war department instructing him to buy no more lumber and build no more wooden kitchens. This indicates that there will be an early movement of the troops to a warmer climate. While he has no official information, Colonel Howard thinks the movement will begin about Oct. 15, and the troops will be shipped at the rate of one regiment a day. His idea is to locate them in the south until the weather becomes cooler in the West Indies, and then send them there. General Graham, on the other hand, favors the retention of his command here until the war department is ready to ship it direct to Cuba.

DEFENDS CAMP ADMINISTRATION.

No Luck of Rations-Great Efficiency of Supply Department - Sickness Chieffy Among Volunteers-The Canteen System Condemned.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6. -- General Wheeler completed his testimony before the war investigating commission yesterday and was followed by General H. V. Boynton, who was still on the stand when the day's session closed. General Wheeler's statement of yesterday dealt entirely with the conditions at Camp Wikoff and General Boynton's with those at Camp Thomas, where he is now in command. General Boynton described in detail the provisions for supplying the Georgia camp with water and told many interesting facts about the location of the troops and the precautions taken to care for and protect them, whether sick or well. He said the men wasted more food than the Army of the Cumberland consumed during the civil war in the siege of Chattanooga, and he eulogized the supply methods of the war department throughout.

General Boynton asserted that the camp was not crowded, that the streets were about 20 feet wide and that there was sufficient distance between the various regiments. General Brooke had himself selected the ground for each regiment and brigade, and each sublivision of the army was sent immediately upon its arrival to its designated

General Boynton said that the sinks were from 30 to 90 feet from the tents and that in some instances the kitchens were not farther than 20 feet from the sinks. Much of the kitchen offal was burned, but in other cases the offal was dumped into kitchen sinks, and then at times it was hauled off and dumped in the woods contrary to orders. Men were obdurate about such matters, and it was a difficult matter to properly police so extensive a camp. He had talked almost every day with the chief surgeon of the camp in regard to the inspection of sinks, and he was assured that there was a daily inspection.

Speaking of typhoid fever in the camp, he said it did not excite serious attention until about the middle of July, when the cases averaged about 2 per It afterward increased until there were about 400 cases among the 50,000 men. He said he had given especial attention to the hospital of the Second division of the Third corps, as it had received the especial attention of the able and influential sensational

He had found that out of 2,462 cases of illness in this hospital there had been only 276 cases of typhoid. The fever has in all cases been of a mild character. At one time, after measles broke out in the camp, the hospitals were crowded, though he did not think such had been the case at any other time. Practically all the sickness was among volunteers. The regulars were not sick. Asked if each regiment had a sutler, General Boynton replied, "They had something worse than a sutler-each one had a canteen."

He said 372 carloads of beer had been sold in the camp. Captain Howell asked about whisky sales, and General Boynton replied that it had been found difficult to entirely cut out the very sharp moonshiners from Captain Howell's state. It was also a fact that Chatta. nooga was a splendid town, but the saloons were open day and night, while on Sunday they were "closed on the outside and open on the inside."

General Brooke's orders allowed two out of each company to visit Chattanooga per day, which would prevent the absence of about 1,200 men. He deprerated the fact that army regulations permitted the canteen system. He said he had never seen such efficiency in the supply departments of the army in the field as in the case of Camp Thomas. All the officials had worked day and night to render the system effective and had succeeded. The storehouses were so full toward the last as to render an overflow house necessary. Sufficient medicines were sent to Atlanta from Camp Thomas to supply 50 regiments for a campaign. There was no lack of rations, and the rations were all good. The variety was equal to that supplied by a family grocery. Each man had a loaf of bread daily. Fresh meat was also supplied. Sometimes some of the meat was spoiled; but, as a rule, it was good. He believed that there was more food left over every lay than the Army of the Cumberland had for its entire Chattanooga cam-

'No army was ever so well supplied with food, and if the men did not know how to cook it neither Secretary Alget nor President McKinley nor any one in Washington can be held responsible," said the general, with some emphasis General Boynton spoke in especial commendation of the Young Men's Christian association tents, which he said were the best things in the service. On the other hand, he condemned the outside drinking houses, where he said that slop was sold that was worse than whisky. He remarked in this connection that Governor Atkinson and the Georgia authorities had co-operated with the military authorities in a most exemplary manner to suppress these lustritutions. He said there was no lack of transportation, especially in coming in. All arrived in Pullman cars or in day coaches lit was not as it was in the civil war, when a box car was good

Most of the complaints were, he said, from the typhoid fever patients, who were, of course, kept on low rations as 4 medical precaution. There was never any shortage of rations, the newspaper statements to the contrary notantistanding.
In the course of his testimony Gener-d Boynton was asked about photographs he was reported to have taken showing the condition of garbage barrels in the camp. He said he had found ome garbage receptacles left by the First Illinois cavalry the day after they broke camp which were full of cermin and had nade a picture of or i of them. It was an urpleasant sucht. but, while this was true, the regiment was a good one, and the general said he did not desire to cast any reflections upon it. At 4 p. m. the commission ad-

FIREMEN KEEP "OPEN HOUSE."

All the Homes Spen to Visitors, Wedneeday Night-An Official Inspection Made by Department Officers, the Mayor and the Aldermen-Bany Visiters Also West the Rossde-Bouses and Apparatus Alt in Pine Order.

Wednesday night the fire companies, thanks to Chief Higham's order, returned to the good old custom of "open house" the night shelore the annual parade. The result was a continuous stream of people going the rounds of the houses from 7 until 9:30. In all of the houses ladies took possession of the chairs and solas and watched to see who was on the tour of inspection. The streets were muddy and some of the companies roped off their parlors, so that needless soiling of earpets was avoided. Flowers were set about the parlors and reception reome, which ooked very pretty under the brilliant him in his canvass. llumination.

Chief Higham and his assistants, Schmitt and Lorentz, met Mayor Mance and Aidermen Tierney, Lawrence, Allen, Ayres, Owen and Gavin at Excelsiors' house at 7:30 and took them on a tour of all the houses.

EXCELSIOR HOOK AND LADDER COMPANY.

The officers, Foreman Edwards, and his assistants Wilson and Gordon and Secretary Royce, received visitors. The horses were hitched up for the official inspectors, and they made the fifty-two foot run from their stalls to their places on the pole of the truck and were hitched and driver Doremus was in his seat ready to start in fifteen seconds.

A fine large bonquet bore the card of James A. Clark, who has not forgotten what "open house" used to mean to this соправу.

FAGLE HOSE COMPANY.

Driver Hardenburgh hitched up the gray team very quickly, no time being taken, and then the inspectors were shown the "bunkers' room" and the parlor upstairs. The aldermen were shown where the boys want a hole cut in the floor for a sliding pole for driver and bunkers and this improvement will probably be made.

A bounquet of beautiful roses was sent

PHOENIX ENGINE COMPANY.

Phoenix Engine Company was next visited. They were greeted by the reception committee J. J. Chambers, Coe Hallock, L. A. Holcomb, Harry Truesdell and Virgil Crist. There was a profusion of flowers and the cards of Mrs. Kittie Miller, Mrs. A. B. Carpenter, Mrs. P. F. Kaufman, Mrs. J. C. Hallock, Miss Lottie Shaw and Harry F. Eilenberger appeared among them.

"ROUGH RIDER" WILL QUAID.

From the Newburgh Press. The nomination of "Will" Quaid, Tuesday, by the Democrats is a graceful recognition of modest and unassuming merit. The young man was born in this city, was educated here and here in the shadow of Washington's Headquarters he imbibed patriotism which, when the proper time came, he exhibited in the most chivalrous manner. Many obstacles had to be overcome before he reached San Juan hill, but they were surmounted one after another, until now his fellow citizens, without distinction of race or creed, have decided that he shall be given the opportunity to "climb Capitol Hill at Albany," as was wittily said by Hou. M. N. Kane, of Warwick, just before the convention adjourned.

The nomination is without a flaw and it will be the duty, as well as the pleasure of his friends and well wishers to help

To Newburghers his career and personality are well known, but there are people in more remote sections of this big district who perhaps do not know him. For their beneat we say that he is an industrious, level-headed young man with grit and patriotism prominent in his make up. His father is the possessor of large means, but this fact has never enlarged the young man's idea of his own importance. His whole career has been one which would make the average father proud that he begat such a son. In the Legislature he will bring to the performance of his duties, if elected, the same traits of character which have so commended him to his immediate neighbors and his probity is proof against temptation. Such is the man named by the Democrats for Senator, Tuesday. His election ought to, like bis nomination, to be made unanimous.

OUR SIXTEEN WARS. From the Albany Argus.

We are fond of calling ours the most peaceful of nations, and yet we have had sixteen ware in the hundred and twentytwo years of our national life. The period that intervened between the close of the Civil War and the breaking out of the war with Spain was the longest interval of peace we have enjoyed since the separation from Great Britain, but during this interval a generation of Americans was coming upon the scene which was to rival in military ardor and in military prowess the generations that had gone before. Nearly as many Americans have been enlisted in the Spanish war as were engaged on the American side in the war of the Revolution. The total force summoned into the field this year was 277,000, while in the Revolution, under many calls, it was 309,000. In two other wars the 1898 quota of Americans under arms was exceeded-the war of 1812 with Great Britain and the war of the Rebellion. The second war with Great Britain received the services of 576,000 men. a very serious burthen then, for the country which had scarcely recovered from the war of Independence. contains. Car and tram wheels have been made of wood pulp and it is taking the place for roofing of corrugated iron, tiles and slates. Vanillin, an artificial substitute for vanilla, is made from the sap of the Scotch pine, while a kind of rubber has been obtained from the common birch. Some industrious statistician has calculated that in the United States 100,000 cords of maple are used annually in the manufacture of shoe pegs and 390,000 cubic feet of pine in making matches. Charcoal factories yield other products than charcoal, notably wood naphtha. In some the smoke given off is used as fuel. On the continent the hopbine, which we burn to waste over here, is used in the manufacture of textile fabrics. It is curious to note that wood tar is prepared just as it was in the fourth century before Christ. A bank is chosen and a hole dug, into which the wood is placed covered with turf. A fire is lighted underneath and the tar slowly drips into the barrels placed to receive it.

Wood has had an important influence on the papermaking industry. Young saplings, which before were not worth cutting down for fuel, can now be converted into pasteboard. A tree was cut down in Galveston, Tex., at ten o'clock in the morning and converted first into pulp and then into paper, by six o'clock in the evening. At six o'clock the next morning it was being distributed as a daily paper.

Why is it that there are advertised in every newspaper a dozen remedies and only one can supply local proof, local endorsement of its claims?

The solution of the problem is simple. Only one remedy has the curing and staying power. Other remedies make all kinds of gigantic yet futile efforts to get local proof, but the attempt ends in producing a statement or two from places that as far as Middletown citizens are concerned might as well be in the moon. Here is Middletown proof which backs up the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mr. Cyrus Coddington, of No. 450 Wickham Ave., says: "Some seven years ago I had an attack of kidney complaint, a very severe attack. It left me and I was not again bothered until a short time ago. By the beating of tom-toms, the sounding of "hew-gags," and the display of pyrotechnics the Republicans nope to divert the attention of voters from the real issues of the campaign, which are: Shall the stealing and Equandering of $3,000,000 of the canal appropriation be allowed to go unpunished and without even an attempt to bring to justice the Republican officials responsible for the wholesale theft and waste; shall reckless expenditures be continued in all departments of the State government, or shall an horest and economical administration be as-Fared by placing the control of State affairs in the hands of Democrats, who never yet failed to closely guard the people's interests and the tax payers' money; shall the national guard, once the pride of the State, be further demoralized and discredited by the incompetence of executive officers ap, ointed for political and social reasons; shall the a quantment of notonously unfit mento unportant offices be rebuked, or shall ters and one son survive him. all the places in the civil service of the State be made the spoil of political freepooters shall tax dodging be encouraged and rewarded. PHILIPPINE INSURGENTS.

Landing of Troops at Iloilo Caused a Panic Among Them.

Cen. Bacon's Detachment Said to Have Been Annihilated by Indiana, BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 6.-A staff correspondent of the Journal wires, this morning, from Walker, Minn:

The force of eighty men under Gen. Bacon has been annihilated. Inspector Tinker sent word to the War Department, last night, that the 3rd Infantry detachment had been wiped out by In. dians. I got in very late from the expedition on the Flora. We started out to carry supplies and rations to the troops. It was very dark off shore and we signalled for an hour hour. We used the code in use at Santiago. Either the troops have been driven inland or there is now no man left. No answering signal of any sort was received, although we lay off and on the whole length of the headlands.

TROOPS NOT WIPED OUT.

A later special to the Journal from Walker, Minn., says: "I have just met an Indian named Mah-Ge-Guh-Bo, who came over from Bear Island in a canoe. He says the loss of whites is ten killed and fifteen wounded. He denies that the troops have been wiped out, but says the Indians have had the best of it. Their loss does not exceed five killed and wounded. I have other information that there are fifty dead Indians within a mile of the lake.

HURRYING FORWARD REENFORCEMENTS. MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 6.-A special train left for Fort Snelling, this morning, with companies E, F and H, under the command of Lieut. Col. Harbach, of the Third Infantry. It cannot reach Walker before 2 o'clock. There are 200 picked men in the detachment, and they have three days' rations, an abundance of ammunition and a Gatling gun.

ONLY EIGHT KILLED.

LATER-A special from Walker says: Major Wilkinson, six privates and one Indian policeman are killed. Col. Shehan is slightly wounded. Thirty Indians are dead. There has been desperate fighting all morning.

PANIC AMONG PHILIPPINE INSUR-GENTS.

THE FIRE PARADE.

A Fire Thowing Made by the Department -Throngs of People Watched the Paraders-The Inspection by the Chief and City Officers—Many Decorations in Monor of the Piremon.

The annual parade of the fire department was keld, this afternoon, under a sau which was just warm enough. Many business places and dwellings about the city were decorated with flags and bunting in honor of the day.

The parade formed on North street, the line extending from the Erie crossing to Wickham avenue.

The 24th band struck up "Hail to the Chief," and Chief Higham and Mayor Mance, followed by Asst. Chief Schmitt and Aldermen Tierney, Allen, Gavin, Ayres, Lawrence and Waldorf passed along the line beginning at Wickham avenue, the squad of police under Capt-Veber and the companies saluting as they pansed.

At 2 o'clock, Asst. Chief Lorentz sounded the "three twos" at the Wickham avenue and North street box, and Chiefs Higham and Schmitt having returned the march through Wickham avenue was started. The formation was as iollows:

Chief of Police. Platoon of Police. Chief Engineer.

let Assistant and 2d Assistant Engineers. 24th Separate Co. Band. Eagle Hose Co., No. 2. McQuoid Engine Co., No. 3. Phonix Engine Co., No. 4. O. and W. Silver Band.

Ontario Hose Co., No. 5. Waalkill Engine Co., No. 6. DeWitt Fife, Drum and Bugle Corps. Excelsior Hook and Ladder Co., No. 1. Monhagen Hose Co., No. 1.

Mayor and Aldermen in carriages. McQuoid Engine Company had the largest showing with 41 uniformed men. Excelsiors had 38; Ontarios, 38; Monhagens, 31; Eagles, 25; Waalkills, 21, and Phoenix, 18.

The companies looked remarkably well and won the admiration of the throngs which lined the walks. President Lutes, and "Si" Merritt, who were at the extreme ends of the Excelsiors, received more "hellos" than any others in line.

Ex-Chief Julius Korn carried the beautiful flag which Crystal Hose Company gave Monhagens. This company's team was led by "Aleck" Gale and 'Dolly" Johnson.

Rev. Dr. Beattie, chaptain of Excelsiors, and C. Macardell, President of the Waalkills, were among the well known gentlemen who marched ahead of their companies.

In the carriages were the city officials, Chaplains Robinson, Evans, O'Hanlon, Heath and Drech.

The music was one of the features of the parade, the three organizations, all of this city, acquitting themselves splendidly. They were all nicely uniformed and their playing showed the results of constant practice.

When Excelsiors passed F. O. Rockafellow's home he sent off several aerial bombs, which exploded high in the air with a loud noise.

Drum Major John Wilson, who marched ahead of the constantly improving O. and W. band, was the tallest man in line. He attracted much attention.

During the parade Supt. Grauten held all cars at convenient points so as not to obstruct the paraders.

A Story of the Franco Pressian War—Row Tw Americans Were Made to Face Death by an Or cor Using His Authority to Gratify a Person

TT WAS in the cozy smoking-room of a prominent New York club that the following story was related. Several guests were sharing the club's hospitalities, and among them was a certain Capt. Lampert, an officer in the United States service who had won laurels in western campaigns.

The conversation had turned on the part taken by the compte de Paris in our late rebellion-his motives in attaching himself to the army of the Potomac, his participation in camp duties, and the personal enthusiasm which he displayed in all his actions.

"Some 30 years ago," said Capt. Lambert, taking advantage of a pause in the discussion, "I was in a position exactly reverse to that of the count. I was attached to the staff of Marshal Cauvilliers during the Franco-Prusian war. Less fortunate than the count, however, I fell into the hands of the enemy, and narrowly missed leaving my bones on French soil.
"During the summer of 1870, Lieux.

Carrol and myself traveled extensively on the continent inspecting as far as possible the military systems employed by various European governments In Berlin I had the misfortune to become involved in a quarrel with a German officer-a haughty young fellow by whom I was grossly insulted. I made complaint at the proper place, and Steinmetz-that was his name-was reprimanded severely as I afterward

"The outbreak of the war, which was like a thunderbolt from a clear sky to all Europe-found us in Paris Here was an opportunity not to be despised. We fully realized the advantage of witnessing in person a struggle between *wo such mighty powers as France and Germany, and after infinite trouble and intercession we were finally assigned to the staff of Marshal Cauvilliers, mainly through the kindness of the American minister at Paris

"The history of that brief but disastrous campaign is familiar to you all Carrol and I were treated with every corries, and respect, but were given little opporturity to sewhat was going on until the battle of Mars-la-Tour Then, during the excitement of the next few days, we had our hands full and both Carrol and myself were utilived as dispatch bearers

"Toranight and a day we lived in our addles, without sleep and almost with or food. On the evening preceding the battle at Gravelotte we found ourgalves in a small village, midway between Gravelotte and Metz Thoroughly exhausted, we were glad to lie down in an empty forage wagon for a few hours' sleep

"But alas! even this brief rest was eried us. We had hardly closed our eyes, when a harsh voice called out our names close at hand, and crawling to the ground we found two officers ! longing to Marshal Cauvilliers' staff who had been vainly searching for us Il that afternoon. Their instructions were to bring us poste haste to the headquarters of the Third army corps.

"Hurry and excitement were visible on all sides as we rode through the with us shows a good increase devastated country. Guns, ammunition forage wagons, and all sorts of amp paraphernalia were being moved to the front, and the troops had been changing their positions so frequently that for a time we could obtain no information concerning Marshall Cauvi hers' headquarters

"We vaguely supposed them to be one place on the right flank of the army, and so we rode on through the right, past the long battle line that was already in position for the coming struggle As I found out long afterward, the Third army corps was really on the left flank, but in blissful ignorance of this fact we pushed ahead up il my companion began to grow unwhen a man, by dint of sheer will, wrings a fortune from niggardly circumstances. The world is full of instances where men have done this, but never in history was this accomplished by a weak and unhealthy man Ill-health not only weakens every physical function but every mental fac-ulty and every moral quality.

If a man will stop and reason for a moment, he does not have to be a physician to understand the causes of impure blood, or its far-reaching effects. When a man's digestion is disordered, his liver sluggish, his bowels inactive, the blood is deprived of the proper food elements, and the sluggish liver and bowels supply in their place, the foulest of poisons. The blood is the life-stream When it is full of foul poisons, it carries and deposits them an every organ and the and deposits them in every organ and tis-sue of the body. Bone, sinew, muscle, and flesh-tissue, the brain cells and the nerve fibres are all fed upon bad, poisonous food. Serious ill-health is bound to result. The man is weakened in every fiber of his body. man is weakened in every noer of his body. He is weakened physically, mentally and morally. He suffers from sick headache, distress in stomach after meals, giddiness and drowsiness, loss of appetite and sleep, bad taste in the mouth, shakiness in the morning, and duliness throughout the day, and lassitude and an indisposition to work. Sooner or later these conditions develop consumption, nervous prostration, malaria, rheumatism, or some blood or skin disease. Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best of all known medicines for ambitious, hard-working men and women. It is the great blood-maker and flesh-builder. It makes the appetite keen and hearty, and the digestion and assimilation perfect, the liver active, the blood pure and rich, the nerves steady, the body vigorous and the brain alert. Where there is also constipation Dr Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used Both of these great medicines are for sale by all medicine dealers.

"Carrol and I passively submitted to be searched. Two soldiers held us on each side.

"Our money and watches were not diaturbed, but our passports and other valuable papers he seized eagerly, and glanced over them by the fire light. Then, before I could comprehend his motive he dropped them in the flames, and they were speedily reduced to

" 'You are two spies,' he said, roughly. 'You can't impose on me. Your papers were counterfeit. I will give you five minutes to live. Make the most of your allowance." "I was undeniably scared, and so was Carrol. The scoundrel undoubtedly meant just what he said. I saw the situation clearly. Having destroyed our passports to secure his own safety, Steinmetz was determined to shoot us both in cold blood, and thus gratify his personal spite against me. "A savage murmur of gratification from his companions showed that they were fully in accord with this proposition. For a moment I was too astounded to make any reply. While understanding the German language perfectly I could speak it with difficulty. So also was the case with Carrol. "Those papers were all right and you know it,' I replied as calmly and fluently as possible. 'We are both Americans, serving on the staff of Marshal Cauvilliers, and were in search of the marshal's army corps when we lost our way and blundered into your lines. You can hold us as prisoners of war, but beyond that you dare not go.'

"Steinmetz laughed derisively. "'Your nationality matters nothing to me,' he said; 'as spies in the French service you have incurred the penalty of death.'

"He turned to mutter some order to his men, and with an inward shiver I saw a dozen rifles being critically inspected by their owners.

" See here, Capt. Steinmetz.' I said loudly, resolved on a last appeal, 'you grossly insulted me at Berlin a few weeks ago, and because I resented your conduct you take this opportunity, like a contemptible coward, to satisfy your malice. The sacrifice of our lives will cost you dearly, bear that in mind. If you give up your mad idea of vengeance, and send us to headquarters as prisoners of war, I will pledge myself to say nothing of this occurrence and of the destruction of our passports."

"For a moment the Prussian struggled between anger and prudeuce. His comrades overheard my words, and the fact had a restraining effect.

"Snatching a burning brand from the fire he pretended to peer into our

"'No, I don't know you.' he said. loud enough for his companions to hear, 'I never saw either of you before You mistake me for some one else. You cannot save your lives by such a pretext. I have allowed you too much time already. You must dicat once."

"He made a signal to his men, who at once bound our arms securely in spite of our struggles, and led us to the foot of a big tree that stood near the campfire. Steinmetz quickly gave some command, and a squad of Uhlans a dozen in number, fell into line 20 paces from where we stood.

"I glanced toward Carrol, and noted that, though deadly pale, his bearing was firm and heroic. "'I give you just two minutes to live,' said Steinmetz, coming forward and pulling out his watch. 'If you want to pray, this is your last chance." "I knew then that hope was at an end. My brain seemed to be whirling round and round, and a'though I strove to pray, my lips refused to utter a sound. The artillery on the neighboring hilltops were still pounding away, and from the direction of the German lines came the tramp of many feet and the rumble of ammunition wagons "A strange magnetism kept my gaze on Steinmetz. He was visibly uneasy as he faced the firing squad with the open watch in his hand-probably tearing some unpleasant interruption.

With a sudden shiver I realized that the allotted time must be up. It was Steinmetz lifted his right hand, and instantly 12 deadly weapons were talsed -six being trained upon Carrol and six upon myself. I have a vague remembrance of hearing Carrol whisp 'r 'good-by,' but my attention was al given to Steinmetz. The command to hre was trembling on his lip-

"I closed my eyes involuntarily and waited. Instead of the expected ve ley I heard a loud clatter of honfs at glancing up I saw a middle-aged officer gallop to the spot. He drew up his horse with a jerk in front of Steinmetz and harshly demanded. What deep this mean? Who are these men

"Steinmetz began to stammer out an xplanation, but the officer cut bire rudely short.

". What right have you to judge them?' he cried harshly. 'Send them to the rear at once, and then fall buck yourself. The battle is about to commence and the army is on the acvance.'

"Steinmetz turned pale with mortifi eation and anger, but he managed with very bad grace to stammer out the necessary order to his men, and a mo ment later Carrol and I were moving under escort to the rear of the German lines, overjoyed at our narrow escape from death.

'We were detained all through the ensuing campaign as prisoners of war, and a few weeks after the fall of Sed in were liberated.

"I had fully intended to report Steinmetz's dastardly conduct to the proper authorities, but that proceeding was rendered useless, for almost the first man of the German forces to fall at Gravelotte was Steinmetz himself."

Action Taken by the Managers of the Gld Ladies' Home Sucrety.

The regular monthly meeting of the Old Ladies' Home Society of Orange county was held. Wednesday, at the home on South street.

The report of the treasurer showed an addition of $552.42 to the treasury as a result of the annual fair recently held at the home. This amount was considerably in excess of that realized from any previous fair, and the ladas were much gratified at this indication of increased interest on the part of the public, and the evident appreciation of their efforts in behalf of those for whose benefit the home was instituted.

At the meeting held in September Dr Julia E. Bradner teudered ber resignation as President of the Board of Managers, which was accepted, and the following preamble and resolution were unanimously addopted:

Whereas, for reasons personal to herself, and the force if which we are constrained to recognize, Dr. Julia E. Bradner has tendered her resignation as President of the Board of Managers of this

Resolved, That in accepting said resignation we deem it due to Miss Bradner, in less than a pleasure to ourselves, to express our high appreciation of the · incient manner in which she has disconreged the duties devolving on her, this a member of the board and as the presiding officer, and the courtesy milliormly extended to her co-workers throught the fifteen years of the existence of the society. To Miss Bradner alone is due the credit of the inception of the Home; and to her untiring efforts in its behalf are also in large measure due the gratifying success of the institution. Our best wishes for her future welfare and happiness are hereby extended to Miss Bradner on her retirement. Resolved, That a copy of this preamble and resolution be transmitted to Miss

By the death of John Cunningham this Board has lost a valued member and a trusted adviser and his company, Ontario Hose, No. 5, a mithful and efficient representative and we as individuals a loyal and unselfish friend. During his service in this Board and during all the time he was connected with the department he has been diligent in the discharge of duty, true to the best interests of the department, and at all times has sought to do what was best for the department as a whole and for the welfare and advancement of its individual members. He endeared himself to all who knew him by his genial ways, and to his credit in the Book of Life is written the record of countless kind and unselfish acts, which his heart, beating warmly toward all mankind, was ever prompting him to perform. He will be missed in all of life's relations and will be mourned by hosts of friends, but most of all in this department in which so much of his interest centred and which he served so well and so zealously. on our record book, published in the city papers and a copy sent to the family

Honolulu, Sept. 23, '98.

We have been most effectually shut out from the world for the past eight days. No mail out and no mait in. We were told that a steamer would sail on the 17th, but she failed to put in appearance and we have since learned that the steamer has been taken off the route for the season. We hear now that a ship will sail for San Francisco, to-morrow, and that one from there will arrive with mail on Saturday.

The weather is still hotter than our hottest days; no rain and clouds of dust. Showers are of almost daily occurrence, but never last more than a few minutes and they do not make the slighest impression on the dust, nor even wet the clothing. The dust is just the color of our brown suits so they are worn on all drills.
